Event Handling functions

$(selector).on(event,function)	It will assign function as event handler
$(selector).off(event,function)	It will remove function from event
$(parentselector).delegate(childselector,event,function)	It will assign function as event handler, but the function will be associated with parent, and will be applicable to all children elements whose selector matches
$(parentselector).undelegate(childselector,event,function)	It will remove function as event handler from the parentselector
$(selector).one(event,function)	This function will be assigned as event handler for executing only once ,

AJAX

AJAX(Asynchronous Javascript and XML)

1. When we want to replace portion of the page then we use AJAX
   a. In a form if we select country, then the dropdown of state should get populated
   b. After login to the site, it shows welcome username